

WARN SQUATTERS TO VACATE LAND

Litigation Over Property Elwood and First Is Closed by Court

SELL LOTS SEPT. 30TH

Order of Sale Made by Federal Court; Equities Have Been Specified in Order

Property known as Squattertown, comprising three blocks of ground near where the Frisco crosses First street which has been in litigation for the past 15 years, will be offered for sale by the government and sold to the highest bidder for the individual lots, according to an announcement made Wednesday by A. J. Ward, national clerk of the court. In a statement issued by Ward, he advised the persons living in this district to prepare to move from the property at once.

Ward said:

Moving Day Is Near.

"Moving day is near at hand for all squatters on Creek (trial) property in Tulsa. The Creek Nation owns all of blocks 35, 36 and 37, situated on Archer street near where the Sand Springs interurban line crosses the Frisco tracks. These blocks have been in litigation for more than 15 years, first between the United States and those who had fraudulently acquired them in the days when town lots were the subject of speculation and the government was the victim of many frauds, next between the government and those who had taken possession without permission during the long fight in the courts to recover the property.

"The final judgment has been rendered, the time for appeal has elapsed, those people have had their day in court. The property has been appraised and will be offered for sale on the 30th of the present month. The squatters have erected many improvements on the land, valuable. These all belong to the Creek Nation. Those squatters who are not prepared to buy had better be prepared to move. The United States marshal will be on hand with a force sufficient to do the moving for them if they do not do it voluntarily.

No Claims on Property.

"The claims of the residences on this property are wholly different than those involved in the litigation suit filed in the local courts affecting addition property to Tulsa. Not a resident of these blocks but what knew when he took possession and built his improvements that he had no title and could get none except from the Creek tribe of Indians and through the regular channels established by law for acquiring property belonging to the Indian tribes. Most of them have long since realized more than the cost of the improvements from rentals and use. None have had to pay taxes and no rent has been collected for the tribe. In the light of these facts there are no such equities in favor of these people as exist in the suits recently filed. In fact there is no parallel whatever, except perhaps in the fact that there are quite a number of people who are affected.

Equities Have Been Adjusted.

"The claimant to improvements are to have ten days in which to remove them if no purchase is found for them. If they are purchased by the occupant of the premises he will be allowed their appraised value less five per cent for cost of sale. If the improvements are purchased by some one not claiming the improvements, the claimant may remove them at his own expense or accept the appraised value. Thus have the equities been adjusted. There has been some complaining about the appraisal but the value as fixed was in fact the result of three appraisals made by different appraisers. The occupant of these blocks has been treated with every consideration but the fact has come when the federal court will take possession. They will be the more delayed in making their claim of title. Those who may be disposed to think otherwise will be likely to find themselves in an embarrassing situation. The judgment of the federal court is against them and the federal courts have a way of enforcing their judgments."

NO CITY OF GLENWOOD

Secretary of State in Letter Says Report of Approval of Election Is Unfounded.

That Glenwood has never been declared a city of the first class was told in a letter received by Mrs. Minnette Hedges, county school superintendent, Wednesday from the office of secretary of state. Mrs. Hedges explained that the information was given out here several days ago that Glenwood had been declared a first class city by the governor, she wrote the state secretary to confirm the report. If true, she said, a new school district had been automatically formed and she would have to proceed with plans for a new building and other equipment. The letter stated that a proclamation had been made authorizing an election for the purpose of declaring Glenwood a first class city. This election was held and the returns showed that it had carried favorably but according to the state secretary the governor has not yet approved it.

The meeting will be held at 12 o'clock in the grill room at the Hotel Tulsa.

NEW ORGANIZATIONS

President of U. S. Junior Chamber, in Tulsa Wednesday, Tell of Plans for Augmenting Franchises. Organization will be the outstanding feature of the program of the United States Junior chamber of commerce this winter. George Wilson, of Dallas, its president, said yesterday after a conference with the organization's first vice president, E. Fred Johnson. Wilson left last night for Dallas, after having made a several weeks' tour of the southwest, visiting junior chambers of commerce.

With 27 organizations in ten states the goal of the national organization is going to be representation from every state in the union at the national convention in Indianapolis next June. Wilson stated. Within a month he expects to have a man in the field and young business men's clubs in many instances will be the nucleus from which new organizations will be formed. The national organization has its headquarters established in Dallas, and a paid secretary, something that has not heretofore been accomplished. Wilson believes that the Junior chambers of commerce offer to young business men channels for participation in civic affairs that in perhaps not opened to them in any other way, and that such organizations work for the mutual benefit of members and the community of which they are a part.

No other organization of its kind in the southwest that he has visited has been so solidly and so well built as the Tulsa organization. Wilson stated, nor none of them is as thriving as the local Junior chamber of commerce. Wilson was emphatic in his approval of the organization and the way in which it is functioning.

Ask $15,000 Damages for Death of Child

A $15,000 damage suit was filed Wednesday in district court against John W. Hickford, Daisy Hickford and J. D. Garrett by G. A. Wright and Ella M. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Wright are seeking damages for the death of their daughter Catherine on September 15 of last year, when a car owned by the Hickfords and driven by Garrett, their driver ran down the little girl. ## SHOULD TAKE PART IN CIVIC AFFAIRS

Gibbons Tells Rotarians Club Members Should Get in Harness

"We cannot rest on our laurels; a city cannot get by on what it has done in the past," J. H. Gibbons declared at the Rotary club luncheon at Hotel Tulsa Wednesday noon. Everything depends on what we do in the present and our plans for the future. A city is like a business—it never stands still. The minute it ceases to go ahead it slides back."

Gibbons urged that the Rotary club show more interest in civic affairs and read telegrams from the international association of Rotary clubs, Rome E. Burns of Joplin, president of the seventeenth Rotary district, and Albert S. Adams, past president of international Rotary.

Yeast Brings Health When Run-Down

Strenuous Life Exhausts Vitality Because Vitamin Is Lacking—Yeast Tablets Supplying Them

Certain wonderful little elements called Vitamins have been found to be absolutely essential to health and vitality, and they must continually be supplied to the impoverished body, just as we feed a starved animal. For most modern diets, especially made up of meat, potatoes, prepared foods, polished rice, etc., are lacking in vitamins, and now the great discovery has been made that yeast contains millions of vitamins. A little yeast added to the average diet causes children to grow more sturdy, checks the signs of old age and builds up run-down systems. Yeast has also been found to be a splendid remedy for hair, skin troubles, etc.

The winter-coming power of yeast is now coming to be known by the thousands of experiments in great medical institutions. Thousands have taken yeast in some form, but it is not enough to take common yeast, which is intended only to aid in making bread. The common yeast cake is only a make-shift, because it contains about 25% starch and water and only about 25% yeast.

The liquid yeast of fermentation, concentrated and combined with iron and other tonic ingredients, is the scientific vitamin treatment. Now a new tablet has been developed by the famous chemist which supplies this vitamin yeast in just the combination to do you the most good. The tablets are called IRONIZED YEAST. It is sold by all druggists, packed in sanitary packages convenient to carry in the pocket.

They are pleasant to take and will not irritate. The tablets cost but a fraction more than the dose than common yeast and are much more effective. Each package contains 30 tablets, and costs only $1.00—or only 10¢ a day. You will notice the benefits before you have finished your first box. Recent run-down conditions—take the yeast road to health. For a package of IRONIZED YEAST, send 10¢ to Colonial Drug Co., Advt.

IRONIZED YEAST Tablets

substantiating his declaration and pointing out that a Rotary club is not functioning properly unless it takes active interest in civic affairs. Selfishness Condemned.

A revival of the old-time war spirit in Tulsa would completely change the economic atmosphere and the state of mind of the people, the speaker asserted. He condemned selfishness and individualism, which, he stated, are not conducive to city building or prosperity.

"In discussing men who have been proposed for membership in the Rotary club," he said, "the first thought that enters my mind is not how big is his store or how much business he does, or what kind of a building did he erect for his own personal business or what he has done to promote his own selfish interests. My first thought is: What has he contributed to the institution upon which he relies to make Tulsa a better place in which he can live and raise his family and increase the value of his investments? Is he a lender of a lift? Does he help pull the band wagon or does he rise on the back end and drag his feet while he listens to the music? Does he carry his end of the load? Has he done anything for his town and his fellows?"

Every Man in Harness.

"A good slogan in business is 'Don't expect anything from anyone but yourself,' and this applies equally to your civic obligations. We can't afford to let George do it in public affairs. Our civic pride, to say nothing of the safety of personal interests, should force every man into the harness to help build this city."

The purpose of his talk, Gibbons explained, was not to criticize members of the Rotary club as such, but "that we may analyze ourselves as individual citizens." He mentioned the importance of the forthcoming campaign by the Chamber of Commerce for increased membership, and pointed out that it is the duty of Rotarians to assist in this drive. Ernest Huston, also on the program, read a paper on Rotary education, in which he deplored the tendency of the Tulsa Rotary club toward failure to show proper politeness to guests, especially while they are being introduced. Members indulge in promiscuous and loud conversation during the introduction period, he declared.

FREED OF MANSLAUGHTER

Judy Finds Negro Woman Not Guilty and Judge Scores Justices

Bessie McCullough, negro woman was freed of a charge of manslaughter by a jury in district court Wednesday. She was accused of killing her husband, George McCullough, during a fight at the home of another negro. Originally charged with murder, at her preliminary trial the woman was held over to district court for manslaughter. After the verdict was in, Judge Redmond S. Cole, instructed the county attorney to never again allow a justice to change a murder charge to manslaughter. Judge Cole said if it was ever done again he would dismiss the case.

Clyde Owens and James A. Shug are now being tried before Judge Cole on charge of auto larceny. The trial will probably be concluded Thursday morning.
